

This Is How Love Sounds

Kristian Bush

Barefoot on the kitchen floor
Slow drip as the coffee pours
Your favorite song drifting in Sing along every now and then
Tiptoe down the hallway dancing
The quiet little way you're laughing
Here the lock slip in your hands

This is how love sounds, love sounds
Listening to you breathe
The way you lay your head down, peek out
Rustling the cotton sheets
The rhythm of your heart pounds, so loud
Crashing into me
You don't have to say one word right now
'Cause this is how love sounds

The horns and the buses and the brakes outside
Let the city just pass us by
Stay here, hold me
Listen to the symphony

This is how love sounds, love sounds
Listening to you breathe
The way you lay your head down, peek out
Rustling the cotton sheets
The rhythm of your heart pounds, so loud
Crashing into me
You don't have to say one word right now
'Cause this is how love sounds

It sounds like Shakespeare and Al Green
An ocean breaking, pouring over me

This is how love sounds, love sounds
Listening to you breathe
The way you lay your head down, peek out
Rustling the cotton sheets
The rhythm of your heart pounds, so loud
Crashing into me
You don't have to say one word right now
'Cause this is how love sounds
Yeah this is how love sounds
