Color Code

Kublai Khan

Tear me down for something that I cannot help
This is so wrong
Push me away
Cause I'm not the same, now what the fuck is up?

Minorities of America, face to face
In the melting pot, this nation's a smaller place
Discrimination breeds hatred and misleads rage
Born the same as you, I'll die too one of these days

Focus on the
Color of my skin
Don't give a fuck about me
Judge me by what you see

Fuck you bigot

I will not feel bad for you because
You keep your mind closed
And your heart is frozen
Despite this day in age

Black or white, red or brown
You might be religious, or maybe god free
Young or old, man or woman
Straight edge or not, who gives a fuck?

Violent words, another means to retaliate
Against ignorance and bigotry
Hopefully one day we all can see
Understanding will set us free
Understanding will set me free
Understanding will set us free
