Once upon a time, a long long time ago there was a planet floating all alone in space

Miraculously it sustained many forms of life moving and non-moving creatures and they would all take great pleasure in watching the heavens above them revolving in perfect harmonic order. Before televisions and radios existed, before podcasts and internet pornography had even been imagined, families would gather round the fire and they would tell folk stories to pass the time and take wisdom from the elders.

Once upon a time, a god asked a great king 'What is the most amazing thing in the world?'

The king replied that every day a million souls pass into the abode of death and yet none believes that they shall follow...
