

The Bar

Kurt Nilsen

Got your sinners on the left side
Got your beggars on the right
Got the easy kind of [?]
And the one who wants to pick a fight
Got you story tellers and liars too
Got your drinkers and the fools
Got your dancers and the pickers
And the bartender too

Got your truckers at the bar
And the cowboys in the back
Got your lovers and your haters
And the common men in black
Got your forgetters and forgivers
Got some bitters ones too
Got someone old and someone cold
And somebody new

So line 'em up, pour 'em down
One shot at a time
Sing a song, sing it strong
Sometimes you wanna belong
Drink to remember and to forget
Sweet smell of a cigarette
Let's make this night last forever
Let's raise our glasses all together

Got your singers and big spenders
Six drinks lingers near by
Got the singles and the married ones
To keep fooling around
Got your shabby ones, the lonely ones
The stranger and the known
Got the smokers and the cheaters
And the ones getting stoned

So line 'em up, pour 'em down
One shot at a time
Sing a song, let's make it strong
Sometimes you wanna belong
Yeah light 'em up, pour 'em down
One shot at a time
Sing a song, let's make it strong
Sometimes you wanna belong
Drink to remember and to forget
Sweet smell of a cigarette
Let's make this night last forever
Let's raise our glasses all together

So line 'em up
Come on, line 'em up
One shot at a time