

Midnight

Kutless

Everything I've done
To tell myself I'm fine
The wasted time, the ways I find
To bury it alive
Nobody sees the disease taking over
I can't believe they don't run for cover
This frame of mind is my disguise
It's pulling me away

Sometimes the darkness inside
Feels like a fight to survive
When I'm falling
I hear you call my name at midnight
Sometimes I'm living a lie
Sometimes I'm trying to hide
When I'm falling
I hear you call my name at midnight

No matter what I've done
Or how hard I try
I don't belong, it all feels wrong
Can you tell me why?
Nobody sees the disease taking over
All the ghosts of my past getting closer
Nowhere to run, nowhere to hide
I can't get away

Sometimes the darkness inside
Feels like a fight to survive
When I'm falling
I hear you call my name at midnight
Sometimes I'm living a lie
Sometimes I'm trying to hide
When I'm falling
I hear you call my name at midnight

What you see is the final scene of a dream I can't escape
Make believe that these empty streets can lead me back to you

Sometimes the darkness inside
Feels like a fight to survive
When I'm falling
I hear you call my name at midnight
Sometimes I'm living a lie
Sometimes I'm trying to hide
When I'm falling
I hear you call my name at midnight
