

How Would I Know

Kygo

If it knocks you off your feet
If the taste is bittersweet
If you cry yourself to sleep
If you find it hard to breathe
If your heart is feeling sore
But somehow you still want more
And you're slamming all the doors
But it feels like love and war

Will we ever stay high
Long enough to survive these lows?
Would you give me a sign
Should I stay or just let you go?
Tell me, how would I know?
How would I know?

They say you feel it when it's right
It just gets dark before the light
I know that we all make mistakes
But how many tears will it take?

Will we ever stay high
Long enough to survive these lows?
Would you give me a sign
Should I stay or just let you go?
Tell me, how would I know?
How would I know?
How would I know?
How would I know?
Or just let you go?
Tell me, how would I know?
