

Imagine

Kyle Echarri

I'm used to keeping a comfortable distance
Don't wanna get people in my way
But why do I have this feeling that I can't explain?
That someone out there's calling my name?

I'm used to having lots of people around me
And sometimes it can be suffocating
Why do I have this feeling that I can't explain?
That someone out there's hearing my call?

We're so far away
But how come I can I feel you?
Is that how much I need you?

I can imagine being with you under the stars
I can imagine holding your hand somewhere far
But can you imagine being with me?
'Cause I can imagine my life with you
Even if right now, I still don't know who you are
Can you imagine?

Laughing with my friends tonight
But somehow there's still an empty space
I know only you can fill in
The only one who can fit in

Alone again tonight
Don't know why I can feel an empty space
I need to fill in
Where do I have to fit in?
