

Looking Up

Kyle Echarri

Echoes, calling from a distance
Let go, I see your soul shining
Beautiful, so beautiful you don't deserve this
So pure, baby your precious

And they say that time will come
You won't have to prove your strong
Cause deep down your scars
Your heart remains to be that of a warrior

Cause there might be tears rolling down my face
But I'm happy your free
Free from a pain
I remind myself, keep my head to the sky
Looking up
I'll be looking up

So long, waiting for someone like you
For so long but only to let go
And I know one day we'll meet again
And so I hold on so there's no goodbyes

They say that time will come
You won't have to prove your strong
Cause deep down your scars
Your heart remains to be that of a warrior

Cause there might be tears rolling down my face
But I'm happy your free
Free from a pain
I remind myself keep my head to the sky
Looking up
I'll be looking up

No more emptiness
Another loneliness
I hope there in the sun
You remind us how you shine
And its gonna keep me warm
Through the cold and lonely nights

Cause it might be tears rolling down my face
But I'm happy your free
Free from a pain
I remind myself keep my head to the sky
I'll be looking up
I'll be looking up

Cause it might be tears rolling down on my face
But I'm happy your free
Free from a pain
I remind myself keep my head to the sky
Looking up
I'll be looking up