

Hot Somewhere

Kyle Hume

You're out there looking hot somewhere
With your dark brown hair
Getting blonder by the second
And it's just not fair
I should be there too
Wasting time with you
Oh I ain't one to get jealous
But baby, I've been unwell this afternoon

I was hoping for inclement weather
A hurricane or whatever
So we'd be stuck here together
Something 'bout you babe
That's just like the temperature
Hot to the touch, oh it hurts
It's hard to put into words

I don't mean to be acting crazy
I know that you'll be back in maybe
Just a couple of hours baby
But I still hate it
Cuz I've been praying that weatherman
Tells me it's gonna rain in ten
Why am I here at home again

While you're out there looking hot somewhere
With you're dark brown hair
Getting blonder by the second
And it's just not fair
I should be there too
Wasting time with you
Oh I ain't one to get jealous
But baby I've been unwell this afternoon

How'd I get hit so bad with the hard luck
Sitting inside while you're sipping on your starbucks
Salt on your skin like you're dripping in stardust
Getting pretty hard cuz I

Swear you came from a new dimension
Way too far out of comprehension
Wish I had all of your attention

But you're out there looking hot somewhere
With you're dark brown hair
Getting blonder by the second
And it's just not fair
I should be there too
Wasting time with you
Oh I ain't one to get jealous
But baby I've been unwell this afternoon
