

Somebody Else

Kyle Hume

I guess she's just not that into it
Always on her phone but she's never texting me
I don't know why I thought it would be different
At least I got that shirt for her for free
She'll probably call me in a day or two
Asking where I've been, haven't talked to her in days
She probably thinks I've moved onto someone new
And now she'll have a million things to say
And she'll admit that she's been distant
Her feelings for me inconsistent
And I'll admit that I'm not okay

I'm thinking back on all of the times that
I didn't wanna put this thing on the shelf
But now I'm thinking that it might just be wise to go
And get ignored by somebody else

It's funny how things are better now
Finally got something besides her on my mind
And isn't it kinda crazy how
Without her my life seems to be just fine
You were hoping I would come back to you
Thought I would be waiting for a chance to try again
Well sorry girl, I've got some things to do
Besides, I don't even want to win
I start-

Thinking back on all of the times that
I didn't wanna put this thing on the shelf
But now that I haven't, girl, well, I'm not surprised
That you're already fooling somebody else

Thinking back on all of the times that
I didn't wanna put this thing on the shelf
