

What the Heaven

Kyle Park

I was burnin' cigarettes, rubber roads, and bridges at both ends
And tellin' lies was part of life, I was tryin' to hide from the weight of all my sins
Then just like an angel, you turned the whole thing around
Girl look at me now

What the Heaven am I gonna do with you?
You saved me from all the hell that I've gone through
Pulled me off that dead end road
Put me up on streets of gold
You gave me love that I just hold on to
Now what the Heaven am I gonna do with you?

You make every mornin' seem like all my wildest dreams have come alive
Oh that golden glow from your halo is the light that lead me home every night
You buried the devil in me six feet under ground
And now I'm tryin' to figure out

What the Heaven am I gonna do with you?
You saved me from all the hell that I've gone through
Pulled me off that dead end road
Put me up on streets of gold
You gave me love that I just hold on to
Now what the Heaven am I gonna do with you?

Now what the Heaven am I gonna do with you?
You've saved me from all the hell that I've gone through

What the Heaven am I gonna do with you?
You saved me from all the hell that I've gone through
Pulled me off that dead end road
Put me up on streets of gold
You gave me love that I just hold on to
Now what the Heaven am I gonna do with you?

Gonna do with you
Oh gonna do with you
