

Bully

L Devine

There is no in-between on both extremes
It's hard to know when one becomes the other
I don't know what I mean
A paradox of showing off and hidin' under covers
I feel like such a virgin when I brag about a fuck
And the life I say I worked for, it was mostly down to luck
I preach about the moment while I'm wearing yesterday
And the future feels forebodin' 'cause I'm bent on dyin' great

I'm so sorry if I ever used your body to forget my own
When I can't be alone

So, you bully yourself
Then you're full of yourself
And you bully yourself
Then you're full of yourself
And you bully yourself
Then you're full of yourself
And you bully yourself
Then you're full of yourself

Pain is peace of mind
It tricks you out of guilt for now and leaves you in denial
Free to strut around and spend some cash you thought you would have forever
(Have forever)

I'm so sorry if I ever used your body to forget my own
When I can't be alone

So, you bully yourself
Then you're full of yourself
And you bully yourself
Then you're full of yourself
And you bully yourself
Then you're full of yourself
And you bully yourself
Then you're full of yourself

Yourself
Yourself
Yourself
Yourself

And you bully yourself
Then you're full of yourself
And you bully yourself
Then you're full of yourself
You bully yourself
Then you're full of yourself
You bully yourself
Then you're full of yourself
You bully yourself
You bully yourself

So, you bully yourself

And you're full of yourself
Then you bully yourself
