

Priorities

L Devine

When I see the time of my life
I see you in the centre
Holding the key in your eyes
Holding all your attention

Sometimes there's moments when I feel like I'm fucking special
We go somewhere just long enough for my heart to forget

That first you put chasing your hopes and your dreams
Then the approval of your family
You put a drink with your friends twice a week
Before you put me

You put working late nights just to get ahead
Then you got therapy to fix your head
Put all of your talents you want to perfect
Before you put me

I guess that we got
Different, different priorities
Cos I wanna put you in front of everything, yeah
Different, different priorities
Cos I wanna put you in front of everything
We got

I know you won't stay but the weight of your touch is deceiving
Blindfold my eyes when you go so I don't see you leaving

Cos you put chasing your hopes and your dreams
Then the approval of your family
You put a drink with your friends twice a week
Before you put me

I guess that we got
Different, different priorities
Cos I wanna put you in front of everything, yeah
Different, different priorities
Cos I wanna put you in front of everything
We got

Cos I wanna put you in front of everything
We got
Different, different priorities
Different, different priorities
Cos I wanna put you in front of everything
We got

When I see the time of my life
I see you in the centre