

Someone Somewhere

Laakso

It's the feeling you get when you're travelling somewhere,
Leaving something behind, something that took too much
Compared to what it gave.

It's the feeling you get when you finally arrive somewhere,
Some place you've never been, but still this is the closest
To a home you'll get.

It's the feeling you get while looking at someone new,
Someone that's asks if your love is true,
When you don't feel nothing at all.

It's the feeling you get when your thoughts are far away.
You see her talking but you can't hear what she says.
You just think of ways to get away.

It's the feeling you get when you're going out somewhere,
Knowing no one, looking for someone.
The feeling that says someone must be out there.

It's the feeling you get while looking at backs
Turned on you never coming back.
The feeling that says "someone's been left alone".

It's the feeling you get while looking at backs
Turned on you never coming back.
The feeling that says "fuck them, go walk alone".