

Sadie And The Devil

Labi Siffre

Sadie was a country girl, she believed in the bible
Sadie soul was white as snow, evil she did not know
Then one day by the river wide, Devil appeared at Sadie's side
Devil said, "Sadie, come with me; I'll teach you to be free."

She said, "no, no, no..."
She said, "no, no, no..."
And the devil said: "hoo, hoo, hoo, hoo..."

The Devil said, "Sadie, look around!
Look at the trees and look at the ground
Look at the Sun and look at the sky
We can share them, you and I."

She said, "no, no, no..."
She said, "no, no, ha, ha, ha..."

Whooh!

The Devil said, "Sadie, come on down!"
Then the Devil and Sadie lay on the ground
The Devil gave Sadie something nice
He gave to her once and he gave it to her twice

And she said, "Oh, oh, oh."
She said, "Oh, oh, oh."
And the Devil said, "Whooh, whooh, whooh, whooh
Whooh, whooh, whooh, whooh!"

Whooh, whooh, whooh, whooh!
Whooh, whooh, whooh, whooh!
