

Turn My Head Around

Lacy J. Dalton

I'm so tired and I get no rest
I need someone to ease my worried mind
And I'm so burnt from the brand of love I'm seein'
I wonder if it's really worth my time

My poor back is bendin' from this heavy load
I need someone to help me lay it down
Well, I've trusted, been busted
And my best friends let me down - they let me down
It's gonna take some time to turn my head around

Everywhere I look I see the face of loneliness
Haunted eyes in the faces made of steel
This heart of mine is only faking stoniness
Is there somebody out there can show me how to feel

I'm so wasted and I get no peace
I need someone to help me get back home
Well, I know relief is on the way, Lord, I'm prayin'
I'm prayin' I'll be found
By someone who can turn my head around

I'm gonna find somebody
Gonna find somebody
Gonna find somebody who can turn my head around
Yes, indeed I am
