

Fire

Lady A

She went home for just a few days
Little break from all the heartache
All the city lights and a boy who changed his mind

Her mother could see it
Her little girl got lost In the deep end
They sat quiet for a while
She said through tears and a smile

"You're only gonna find your way if you're searching, searching"
"You're only gonna find your strength when you're hurting, hurting"

When your heart can't take anymore
And you fall face down on the floor, yeah, you gotta take it higher
Higher
You're gonna find what you're made of walking through fire
Fire

He was climbing the ladder
'Til he lost his job and it shattered
All the plans that he thought made up a good life

'Til he remembered that dream left on that shelf
Doing what he loved, working for himself
No, he wouldn't be where he is now (Be where he is now)
If he'd a never gotten knocked down

You're only gonna find your way if you're searching, searching
You're only gonna find your strength when you're hurting, hurting

When your heart can't take anymore
And you fall face down on the floor, yeah, you gotta take it higher
Higher
You're gonna find what you're made of walking through fire
Fire

Oh

I know that fear that's inside you, inside you
Pretty soon it'll all be behind you

You're only gonna find your way if you're searching
You're only gonna find your strength when you're hurting

You're only gonna find your way if you're searching, searching
You're only gonna find your strength when you're hurting, hurting

When your heart can't take anymore
And you fall face down on the floor, yeah, you gotta take it higher
Higher
You're gonna find what you're made of walking through fire
Fire

Oh-oh yeah, you're walking through fire, fire
Mmm
