

Think About You

Ladyhawke

Think about you
Think about you, you

I'm not a girl you know
But I can let it go
We're living worlds apart
But see, you have my heart
Doesn't matter what I do
Doesn't matter who you are
Why does it feel like I won't get turned away? (Ooh)

I'm just another crazy, lonely stan
I'm never satisfied
There's just another little part of me
Hoping our worlds collide

You know I think about, think about you
You know I think about, think about you
You know I think about, think about you
You know I think about, think about you

Think about you
Think about you, you
Think about you
Think about you, you

Try as I may
I can't seem to shake away, oh
This crazy feeling inside
So I've been holding it down
But then suddenly, you found me
How did you finally know?
You were never blunt
You said you always knew
Baby, it takes one to know one
So you held both my hands
And you looked me in the eyes
And you sung these words back to me (Ooh)

I'm just another crazy, lonely stan
I'm never satisfied
There's just another little part of me
Hoping our worlds collide

You know I think about, think about you
You know I think about, think about you
You know I think about, think about you
You know I think about, think about you

Think about you
Think about you, you
Think about you
Think about you, you
