

Returning

Lalah Hathaway

I've been flying high, but I've been feeling low
Don't know where I belong
Down the rabbit hole, middle of the world
Don't know where I belong anymore
Snoozing the alarm, waking up the moon
I've been afraid of you
Moving so fast, I just wanna hit the space bar
Try to figure out where we are
Don't know where I belong anymore

I've been trying to find a key
To unlock another door
(I've been here before)
Another stone breaking the wall
Skipping over the sun
I never wanted more

Like a river coming back to the sea
(I've been trying to come back home)
And an anchor always pulling at me, ah
(Undertow, send me home)
Like a river coming back to the sea
(I've been trying to come back home)
And I'm falling back in ways and I'm returning
Returning

Returning (Like a river coming back to the sea)
Returning (And an anchor always pulling at me, ah)
Returning (Like a river coming back to the sea)
Returning (And an anchor always pulling at me, ah)

Sweet like passionfruit, memory of you
Mirrored spirits us two
Drifting with the sand in this hourglass
Making my way back home

I've been trying to find a key
To unlock another door
(I've been here before)
Another stone breaking the wall
Skipping over the sun
I never wanted more

Like a river coming back to the sea
(I've been trying to come back home)
And an anchor always pulling at me, ah
(Undertow, send me home)
Like a river coming back to the sea
(I've been trying to come back home)
And I'm falling back in ways and I'm returning
Returning

Returning (Like a river coming back to the sea)
Returning (And an anchor always pulling at me, ah)
Returning (Like a river coming back to the sea)
Returning (And an anchor always pulling at me, ah)

Returning (Like a river coming back to the sea)
Returning (And an anchor always pulling at me, ah)
Returning (Like a river coming back to the sea)
Returning