

The Death Of Us

Lamb of God

Hopeless, helpless, dying breath
Hopeless, helpless, dying breath
Hopeless, helpless, dying breath
Hopeless, helpless, dying breath

Betrayed electric winds that blow into the night
Relay the truth, the harbinger of hidden strife
Ignore the chokehold's edge, I feel my anger start to rise
Awake the colder man I thought I left behind to die

No more peace
Inside a warring head
Sharp release
The shock begins to spread
So many questions but the only answer's death
Mercy bows its battered head to take a dying breath

A broken vow, a shattered trust
Know now this will be the death of us
A thoughtless path, the foulest lust
Know now this will be the death of us

(Hopeless, helpless, dying breath
Hopeless, helpless, dying breath)

Depart on bitter winds above the crashing waves
Return the iron will to face the coming days
And in the deepest rut I feel the pain begin to fade
A hopeless, helpless wreck reborn inside a burning flame

No belief
When all is compromised
Silently
I sit and bide the time
Grease the hands and turn the key
Move in the darkest night
Rouse the sleeping monster
Bring it forth into the light

A broken vow, a shattered trust
Know now this will be the death of us
A thoughtless path, the foulest lust
Know now this will be the death of us

(Hopeless, helpless, dying breath
Hopeless, helpless, dying breath)

The death of us
The death of us

A broken vow, a shattered trust
Know now this will be the death of us
A thoughtless path, the foulest lust
Know now this will be the death of us

(Hopeless, helpless, dying breath
Hopeless, helpless, dying breath)

Hopeless, helpless, dying breath
Hopeless, helpless, dying breath