Locksmith

Landon Austin

This is the last song I'll write about you
I need to move on, I think you do too

You were all that I wanted, you know that you still are
'Cause I've been alright, yeah, but you showed me better
I know that we're changin' but nothin' feels different
I'm breakin' the silence to say

If in ten years time I'm still on your mind
Would you call and say you want this?
No matter where we are, you still have my heart
'Cause I locked it, and I promise
You're the locksmith

We said, "Forever" and said it too soon (And said it too soon)
At least now I know nobody feels like you do (Nobody feels like you do)

You were all that I wanted, you know that you still are
I'm breakin' the silence to say

If in ten years time I'm still on your mind
Would you call and say you want this?
No matter where we are, you still have my heart
'Cause I locked it, and I promise
You're the locksmith

You're the one that I can see me growin' old with Build a house, I see it now, you plant me roses
And everything we dreamed about, came into focus
Here's to hopin'

If in ten years time I'm still on your mind
Could you call and say you want this?
No matter where we are, you still have my heart
'Cause I locked it, and I promise
You're the locksmith
