

Something He'd Say

Larry Fleet

Did he say that I'll love you 'til the day that I die
With a bourbon laced kiss on your neck
Spoke too good to be true like it wasn't a lie
And goodbye was his biggest regret
If he said it once he's said it a hundred
And he'll plead the 5th the next day
Well If it sounded like something my lips couldn't mumble
Then it sounds like something he'd say

Don't hang onto the words when they're spoke through the whiskey
Girl you oughta know better by now
Well Them boots should keep walking when this silver tongues talking
Every time he comes around
Calls you baby saying
I'm all yours now here to stay
Now give me One more chance girl
I can change
Sounds like something he'd say

Did he sound like that guy that you met the first night
With that neon lit Broadway smile
When they rolled off his lips were you rolling your eyes
Or did you'd think it be different this time

Don't hang onto the words when they're spoke through the whiskey
Girl you oughta know better by now
Well Them boots should keep walking when this silver tongues talking
Every time he comes around
Calls you baby saying
I'm all yours now here to stay
Now give me One more chance girl
I can change
Sounds like something he'd say
Sounds like something he'd say
Sounds like something he'd say

When he's jacked up on Jim
Don't listen to him
'Cause half of the truth is watered down

Don't hang onto the words when they're spoke through the whiskey
Girl you oughta know better by now
Them boots should keep walking when this silver tongues talking
Every time he comes around
Calls you baby saying
I'm all yours now here to stay
Now give me One more chance girl
I can change
Sounds like something he'd say
Something he'd say
Sounds like something he'd say
