

Awkward Conversations

late night drive home

I'm tryna talk to you, but your friends are too loud
Just between us two, I'm happy we made it out
Look at the change, we've grown apart, and now I'm in your way
I missed all the signs, you'll be happy tonight knowing I'm not here to stay

It hurts a little less knowing you'll be okay
I will try my best to keep a level head

I'm tired of fighting just so we can make up
A little after awkward conversations
I wish you would've stayed
I'll let you go, it's time for me to move on
I'll be the first one, both of us will be gone
I wish you would've stayed

After we split, my mind was torn in two
All the subtle things I would talk about with you
Pick up the pace, we've grown apart, and now I'm in your way
I know we both cried, you'll be happy tonight, as I'm not here to stay

I'm tired of fighting just so we can make up
A little after awkward conversations
I wish you would've stayed
I'll let you go, it's time for me to move on
I'll be the first one, both of us will be gone
I wish you would've stayed

I'm trying, I'm trying not to forget
The nice things that you said before your fall
I'm trying, I'm trying not to forget
The nice things that you said before your fall