

Full Moon Thoughts

late night drive home

[?] fairy light
They twinkle in the sky
Next to my car's where we reside
On the top of the mountain's where we left our dreams
Throwing rocks and kicking things
And on a drive back home
That's when you said
"Nothing changes, we'll always be friends"

I burnt the RV down with the skeletons left on the floor
I didn't mean to leave a frown it's just what we did for fun before
The walls of our youth crumbled over the booth of who is who and what are you
A couple of teens who were no to succeed but thought that they could be standing at my door

I burnt the RV down with the skeletons left on the floor
I didn't mean to leave a frown it's just what we did for fun before
The walls of our youth crumbled over the booth of who is who and what are you
A couple of teens who were no to succeed but thought that they could be standing at my door