late night drive home

Today, by some force
I venture out into the void of the city
Where it's easy to hide under a fat tree

As I take a stroll outside, I see
A pair of eyes staring back at me
They say, "Take a swig of sweet cherry"
Now I'm too bloodshot to be perceived

Not much reflection was done, I see
A toxic wasteland for all to sleep
It's me and you, and the other two
It's back to back
It's back to back
It's back to back
It's back to back

So live the rest of your days at ease
Shelly always sees the vast wasteland of the sea
I get caught up in my fantasies
I start rambling, and Shelly thinks it's the death of me
And quite frankly, I agree
Catch whatever you throw at me
'Cause I agree

So caught up in the short durations of modern entertainment
So caught up in the short durations of modern entertainment
Of modern entertainment
Of modern entertainment

Not much reflection was done, I see
A toxic wasteland for all to sleep
It's me and you, and the other two
Always barking and teething right to the core
Chew threw all décor, I just don't care anymore
Spent an hour or more behind closed doors

Why would I open up my eyes just to see?
I'm sleepwalking across the road
I'm sleepwalking in the danger zone
I just need to go home
Need to go home

Why would I open up my eyes just to see?
I'm sleepwalking across the road
I'm sleepwalking
I just need to go home
Need to go home
