

she'll sleep it off

late night drive home

Right across from the hospital
She's waiting for her daughter to call
That was the plan

Memories gettin' hard to recall
But it wouldn't do her justice at all
I'll hold her hand

I feel like a crumb on the ground
But it's comforting to make a sound
The silence she can't stand

Once her time is done
I'll sit in the sun
Hearing cars drive by Desensitized

I'll hold you
I don't want to Forget you
You've had enough
And it's time to move on

I'll hold you
I don't want to Forget you
You've had enough
And it's time to move on

Watch your life go by
Watch your life go by
Watch your life go by

Watch your life go by
Watch your life go by
Watch your life go by

Watch your life go by
Watch your life go by
Watch your life go by

Watch your life go by
Watch your life go by
Watch your life go by

Watch your life go by
Watch your life go by
Watch your life go by

Watch your life go by
Watch your life go by
Watch your life go by

Watch your life go by
Watch your life go by
Watch your life go by

Watch your life go by
Watch your life go by
