

threat of silence

late night drive home

The silence seems to speak the loudest
When you're in between my eyes
It's the middle of the night
Fighting means nothing when I'm not trying
It's just a glimpse into my mind
Everything's alright
I can't decide which one I like best
The moonlight and then a sundress
So I'll let you choose, like you always do
And I'll say goodnight

(Wait, did you put my Switch to charge?)

Perfectly wasted you
With you, an orphan
Let's make this night last long (time not last long)
Without the end
Those late nights, pretend fake fights
Now they just haunt me
Today, I won't watch her (don't walk past her)
So don't even talk to me (don't die)

Cut the sound
We don't know we've headed off this way
But, for now
I'll just stay here next to you, away