

We're Nobody

late night drive home

Ah, dude, Evan was tripping so hard last night
(Yeah, I hear they're making a live-action movie)
I don't know, I, uh, dude, I thought I was going to die, but (But I mean, I don't know about it)
Yeah, dude, I'm like so messed up right now (Nah, but it's just, well, it's just weird, like it's cool though, but, like,
, it's weird)

Here, in the crowd
Our eyes talk too loud
We speak the truth
Throw the blame on the move and our sound
And in the middle of the night
I feel it creeping up behind enough to kill you
We know our time is running out
The silence tearing down this town
We haven't got a clue

But now, we know
The truth I have, anyone holds is that

Everyone knows that we're nobody now
And everyone knows that we're nobody now

And here, in the crowd
Our eyes talk too loud
We speak the truth
Threw the groove on the move and our sound
And in the middle of the night
I feel it creeping up behind enough to kill you
We know our time is running out
The silence tearing down this town
We haven't got a clue

Everyone knows that we're nobody now
And everyone knows that we're nobody now

(And it's like, it just makes you wonder, like, we're alone)
(Y'know, how small are we compared to the universe, you know?)
(Like, apparently, like, the universe is supposed to be visible, but, like, every year)

Everyone knows that we're nobody now
And everyone knows that we're nobody now

(And it's like, it just makes you wonder, like, we're alone)
(Y'know, how small are we compared to the universe, you know?)
(Like, apparently, like, the universe is supposed to be visible, but, like,
every year)

Why can't we be something?
Why don't things ever change?
Tonight, we always su-ourselves
Tonight, we cheer for someone else
Why can't we be something?
Why don't things ever change?
Tonight, we always su-ourselves

Tonight, we cheer for someone else

We are nobody now
We are nobody now
We are nobody now
We are nobody now