

King Tough Is My New Idol

Latterman

and so i'm going over it all once again
and looking at how i feel today.
and i'm ok.
the mirror says don't feel down anymore.
and so i see i just can't dig that hole i dug back then or i'll fall back in.

so it's clear what i need to do from here.
remember to live and let live.
and while i can't change everything
i'll remember the best of what i did.

and so we go on living our own lives in search of what we really need that's in front of me.
those people who seem to be a word away
and they helped me see.
they are the ones who brought me to my feet
and they helped me see.

and so it's clear what i need to do from here.
get past my pain and get up and live.
but i can't change everything
i'll remember the best of what i did.