Water Manes At The Block's End

Latterman

if we've ran a million miles to get to this place we'll keep th e pace. because I haven't found answers yet along the way to al 1 my questions on where I need to be or what to believe. if I c an lay claim to any achievement here's my secret: I'm still uns ure of everything. but I'm sure that hell has our names cause we're failing everyday as we search for a home where we won't die alone. I need to back up from these dead ends. so back me up my friend. if today the ground gives in I hope we won't fall al one because you know I don't want to go alone. so hell can have our fking names because we'll fail and fk up until we're in the grave. so I'll search for someplace where we wont die alone someday. you know I need to back up from these dead ends. so back me up my friend
