

Heavy Heart

Laurel

All those days that I got mad at you
Run away and say we're through
And I tried to fight through hardship
With a kind of careful fearlessness
We played under your red sky
But I can't stay my whole damn life
I'm tired of crying at sunsets
The sky is falling and my world aches

Ooh, you fell and you hurt me too
I don't know what I knew
Blue and broken
If I could choose
I'd catch you

Hold you with a heavy heart
Just tryna beat
My lungs would fill up with love
Just tryna breathe
You're breaking me

Precious days and Sunday nights
Sometimes I say that I would die
For you I don't want anything to change
But it's fading into recklessness

True love hit like an ocean
Waves roll into the shore
And I get scared of the motions
Reach out my arms, but oh

Hold you with a heavy heart
Just tryna beat
My lungs would fill up with love
Just tryna breathe
You're breaking me

Restless days, forever changed
Gave my all for nothing
Over the years you've disappeared
I'm still at your door
In another life, another time, we'd dance in the water
Celebrate another day underneath the sun, oh, oh
I'd carry you, but I'd

Hold you with a heavy heart
Just tryna beat
My lungs would fill up with love
Just tryna breathe
You're breaking me

Hold you with a heavy heart
Just tryna beat
My lungs would fill up with love
Just tryna breathe
You're breaking me
