

Next Time

Laurel

He's the one that tells me lies,
I see diamonds in his eyes, I see them
We're in his car he drops me home,
Another hour or so, I can see them

We try, I know you're not shy
Remind me for next time

Next time, you leave
Next time, I'll be
Lonely, we're both lonely
Love me, learn to love me

He's gone out, I'm at alone.
He's drinking beer while I'm at home
Why do I need him?
His friends I've tried but I don't fit.
They love, they hate, they make me sick
But he needs them

We try, I know you're not shy
Remind me for next time

Next time, you leave
Next time, I'll be
Lonely, we're both lonely
Love me, learn to love me

There's a man he treats me well, he takes me out and loves me
Fell from heaven
Tries he talks, he wants me there,
I never meant to hurt him, swear
But you did

We try, I know you're not shy
Remind me for next time

Next time, you leave
Next time, I'll be
Lonely, we're both lonely
Love me, learn to love me
