

Recover

Laurel

But in the bed how am I meant to know what?
Means you're state of the art
I'm a cultivated criminal mind
Just recover, recover

Now he's always away like
Forever and always
I don't mind, go, stay
Just like being in the same world as you
The time spent, recover, recover

Here I've woken up, no further from your doubt
And here I am now, don't know where I stand

Out across the seas, can understand
What you mean to me
When you go away, it makes the heart ache
When you go away, it makes the heart ache
Are you still coming back?
Are you still coming back to me?
Are you still coming back?
Are you still coming back to me?
Are you still coming back?

All that I know is you're some kind of wonderful child of the stars
I talk to the universe about you
When I try, recover, recover

Here I've woken up, no further from your doubts
And here I am now, don't know where I stand

Out across the seas, can understand
What you mean to me
When you go away, it makes the heart ache
When you go away, it makes the heart ache
Are you still coming back?
Are you still coming back to me?
Are you still coming back?
Are you still coming back to me?
Are you still coming back?

Think of me when you go to sleep
I'll think about every single which
Of you and you are in my arms
And when you're missing after dark

Could cross the oceans and the seas
Are you still coming back to me?
Are you still coming back to me?
Oh, oh

Are you still coming back?
Are you still coming back to me?
Are you still coming back?
Are you still coming back to me?
Are you still coming back?
Are you still coming back to me?

Are you still coming back?
Are you still coming back to me?
Are you still coming back?