

Sorry

Lauren Jauregui

It's already been two years
And I don't feel that you trust me like you should
If all I ever do is prove it
It'll never be enough understood

And it's hard for me to see a future of what we could be
When your insecurities in the way I see in me for me
So I'll leave

But I want you back, so I'll take you back
And we'll fight some more like I knew we would
It's a cycle man, there's no salvaging
When we're growing up apart separate ways

So I'm sorry, I couldn't love you
I keep hurting, and although I miss you
I can't keep going around in these circles
When I know we're falling apart
So I'm sorry, but I can't love you anymore

You say you don't wanna break up
But I don't really wanna fake it anymore, no-ooh (No)
I'm tired of the plain games, babe
You and I already been here before, no, no

And I've tried to say how I'm feeling, babe (How I'm feeling, b abe)
But you won't listen, got your own version
Of what loving me is, there's no salvaging
When we're growing up apart separate ways

So I'm sorry, I couldn't love you like you wanted me to
I keep hurting (I keep on hurting), and although I miss you
I can't keep going around in these circles
When I know we're falling apart
Sorry, but I can't love you anymore

(Sorry that I couldn't love you)
And I, and I
(I keep hurting, although I miss you)
I keep falling apart
