

Love Someone

Le Butcherettes

Spent years just searching for your face
Could not find a trace
These things of mine have turned to stone
When my eyes met you
You hold out your hand, body squeezin' in mid air
Fear is my crime

Love someone that hurt you
Is the price you pay when you fall in deep
Love someone that defies
All the laws of gravity, tears through infinity
Going, going, going gone, going, going, going gone
This shattered heart has hit the ground

When the early morning came
The hurt remained
A voice inside my head said
That's the price that you'll have to pay
I'll spit out my fear in the hands of life
Pain is the game

Love someone that hurt you
Is the price you pay when you fall in deep
Love someone that defies
All the laws of gravity, tears through infinity
Going, going, going gone, going, going, going gone
This shattered heart has hit the ground
Going, going, going gone, going, going, going gone
Love someone but now it's done

Love someone that hurt you
Is the price you pay when you fall in deep
Love someone that defies
All the laws of gravity, tears through infinity
Going, going, going gone, going, going, going gone
This shattered heart has hit the ground
Going, going, going gone, going, going, going gone
Love someone but now it's done
