

Stab My Back

Le Butcherettes

(Stab my back when I'm my strongest
Your steel knife's gonna make no red settle down
Take my prowl when your teeth are glowing
Your two faced love ain't good for me)

Stab my back when I'm my strongest
Your steel knife's gonna make no red settle down
Take my prowl when your teeth are glowing
Your two faced love ain't good for me

Cross the line when no one's looking at those hands
Scented liar is what you have become
Rusted phallus hiding in your throat
Push the prick in deep without her running sighs
Your trick knife's gonna make, no red settle down
Your trick knife's gonna make, no red settle down

Steal my voice when my eyes are sewn shut
Walk to the valley and speak for me, man
A couple of people will start to listen
All your lies are made up fairy tales
Your gloves are melting when the woods are skimming
Yes, the sun is the only one looking at you
Burnt clothes are peeling and your skin is showing
Now the brown has tuned into false purple

Cross the line when no one's looking at those hands
Scented liar is what you have become
Rusted phallus hiding in your throat
Push the prick in deep without her running sighs
Your trick knife's gonna make, no red settle down
Your trick knife's gonna make, no red settle down

Bitch anguished wolves are howling
The wolves are sleeping, nothing wakes them up
But when you come on floating
The veins have left their heads, no one's looking at us
Witch ravished snakes are taunting
The wives are sleeping, nothing wakes them up
Ten thousand knives are glowing
You pick them up and dig in me

Stab my back when you walk on my grave
You steel knife's gonna make no dirt settle down
Take my mother when her tears are hollow
You're a two faced son, ain't good for anyone
Stab my back when I'm my strongest
Your steel knife's gonna make no red settle down
Stab my back when I'm my strongest
Your steel knife's gonna make no red settle down