look back and see

Wanna go crazy
But it's too late, worried what others might think of me
Another day of chasing her on the screen
Then it all ends, don't want to let go
It's become a luxury
Movie cliché that I've written in my journal
I was happy back then, free to dream no strings attached
Now I ask what all this means

Me outside the rectangle, who? Who?
What do I like, are you? You?
The world, it's too much
I ask myself, are you enough?

I'm crazy for feeling more
I ask myself, are you enough?
'Cause you're in love
What would you know when you've got everything?
I hesitate at the question and my words trail off
Don't want to let go, the tip of my childhood dreams

Mm
And I know it's not the same, everything's changed at home
Just like the earmarked page of a fairytale
I'm still looking for something
Don't you feel we all lost something?
A dream, a fragrant room
Do you want to knock on the door with me?

You should ask the more it hurts, who? Who?
How's your heart, are you? you?
This racing heartbeat
It's telling you something precious

I'm crazy for feeling more
Jealous of being able to go crazy
'Cause you're in love
What's crazier than loving more?
Couldn't go crazy in my youth
Still beautiful

If you love something beyond sanity
Someday look back and see
A flower which bloomed
On this field of thorns
