

Light of the World

Leah

Nations come to your light
Travel to the brightness of your dawn
And many kings from distant shores
Bring gold and incense from afar

And following the path, the dream that led me here
Hope in prophecy fill this night so crystal clear

I am the one, the one foretold
I am the light of the world

Providence here on this night
From the east come sages to adore
Anew king, a new age
Of peace and redeeming evermore

And following the journey, the light that led me here
Hope in prophecy fill this night so crystal clear

I am the one, the one foretold
