

Surrounded

Leah

Come to the sea, wash the memories of war away
Lay your head down, ease the pain now, even in your dreams
It's far from over, I can see the storm on the horizon
Like a little child, I weep over you, 'till you come back to me

My heart is surrounded
I'll lay my weapons down
This battle's just beginning
Standing on this mountain
I will surrender now
Today I'm giving in

Bring your wounds, bring your broken blades and chronicles
Time to breathe, and time to leave again, making history complete
I know it's far from over, I can see the storm on the horizon
But for a little while, let me memorize the last time I will see your face...

My heart is surrounded
I'll lay my weapons down
This battle's just beginning
Standing on this mountain
I will surrender now
Today I'm giving in

This heavy armor has been weighing you down
Skies growing somber and beckoning blood
Is there any hope for us beyond these walls
Bittersweet, this night shall be, in eternal stone

My heart is surrounded
I'll lay my weapons down
This battle's just beginning
Standing on this mountain
I will surrender now
Today I'm giving in to you