

All the Lovin' and Hurtin'

LeAnn Rimes

Do you ever get past the pain you go through?
When you give all you can and you can't understand
Why a dream won't come true?
It's a one-sided romance you can't undo
When you do all the lovin' and the hurting, too

You can't take it back once you give your heart
Trying not to recall how you did it all is the hardest part
And you can't change the reason you feel like a fool
'Cause you did all the lovin' and the hurting, too

That's the price you pay for doing more than your share
When you love enough for both of you, no one else has to care
And though it's all over, you look back on the truth
You did all the lovin' and the hurting, too
And though it's all over, it's not over for you
You're still doing all the lovin' and the hurting, too
You did all the lovin' and the hurting, too
