Frøya's Theme

Leaves' Eyes

Frøya Blue her eyes Gold of hair A maiden so fair Her skin so pure Splendid and slim Goddess of love Brightened and white Goddess of love Brightened and white Eigandi valfalls Home of the slain Eigandi valfalls Home of the slain Valfrøya Gave her heart to the Sun To the Sun Wandering eyes...of a man Leaving her...beauty counts A journey of...no return To the ends... of the worlds Tears running across her face Turning oh so pale Red tear-drops striking the earth Like stones of gold Lost in despair I'm drowning in sorrow She cast a shadow upon the earth Showing no fear Never ending fire She will haunt across the worlds Frøya Sore her eyes Of golden tears A heart so torn Aching to find...her Sun Leaving her...tears behind A journey of...the heart To the ends... of the worlds Tears running across her face Turning bright like pearls There she found him under a tree They rose as one Like the Phoenix Out of the ashes She cast a shadow upon the earth Endlessly waiting His Goddess appeared They rose as one into her halls