

Alien

Lebanon Hanover

I like to wander some graveyards alone
And think of all that I've become
What kind of box I would go
And would you even notice
My disappearance, my impressions
I'm just waiting, waiting...

And until then my desolation
Will be my trademark
I'll always remain alien
And however hard I try to integrate
I'll always remain alien

You say I should go out
In every brutal town
There is someone of substance
Forcing me to do things I never do
For instance laugh at jokes of you
Small talks have simply no relevance

And until you change
I'll keep my delighted face
It is my trademark to always remain alien
And however hard I try to integrate
I'll always remain alien
