

Diamantina Dream

Lee Kernaghan

The warmth from the sunset is fading from orange to blue,
This is the time to go down to the river with you,
The whispers of evening you'd lay with your head on my chest
The scent of your hair and the rise and the fall of your breath

Chorus

Promise me now you'll remember me just like this
The cool desert night and the stars as.....I waitly says
So when we're apart no matter how empty things seem
I'll be here by the river in your Diamantina dream.

Verse 2:

The call of the night owl, the chill of a steely dawn,
I reach for your hand as I wake on the sand all alone
The blaze of the morning is burning the darkness away
But I close my eyes and from heaven I hear you say

Chorus

Promise me now you'll remember me just like this
The cool desert night and the stars as.....I waitly says
So when we're apart no matter how empty things seem
I'll be here by the river in your Diamantina dream.

And I'll be here by the river in your Diamantina dream.
