Farewell

Legenda Aurea

I'm walking in the depths of the forest
Strayed in the selfishness of manhood
I lose myself in tears of pain
I'm sitting here
And the water reflects all our sins
And I drown in this wretchedness

Over and over again
I step into darkness
Over and over again
Everything seems to regress

This shape will fall into pieces
We will get punishment
Is this what they call life, is this what they call god?
It's just a way not to remember
Our torment
Goodbye

This life has nothing left for me
Everything seems in vain
Give away my life
Say my last farewell

Over and over again
I step into darkness
Over and over again
Everything seems to regress
