

Bluffing Statistics

Lemuria

When you get everything that you want You will miss wanting what you have I will never, I could never be Happy with you If you could never be happy without me

You're bluffing statistics again You're bluffing statistics again You're bluffing statistics again And for every second of your labor You're parading its evidence

I can't care about everything Like a menu with too much pride Sometimes when someone pushes you down You don't think why, you just push back

I realize I'm not giving all of me I am giving you more than I am I am giving you more than I am I am giving you more than I am

You're bluffing statistics again You're bluffing statistics again You're bluffing statistics again And for every second of your labor You're parading its evidence

The one expression that will, that will define me Like a face on a coin

The one expression that will, that will define me Like a face on a coin Like a face on a coin