

After All

Lenny Cooper

Now who's gonna hold you tight, when your alone in the bed tonight

After all the times we had, you took a good thing and made it bad

After all your the one I thought who held my heart girl
But now you just like the sound of nails on a chalk board, Yeah
I just want to make you happy,

Now you see how you broke me down and left me here to fuckin' bleed

I try my best, so I don't live with no regrets
Even though you let us burn up like some cheap cigarettes
I wish you could feel the pain that is up inside my chest
Hell I thought you were different, but you isn't
Your just like the rest

Now who's gonna hold you tight, when your alone in the bed tonight

After all the times we had, you took a good thing and made it bad

After all we've been through how could you do this to me

After all your suppose to be my one and only, cause it was meant to be

After all there's no more
Lookin back, left all my demons in the past
You were never right for me
It took some time for me to see
After all that we've been through Look how far apart we've grew
Now your gone
There's nothing left for me to do
But to sing a song to you
It's your lost

Now who's gonna hold you tight, when your alone in the bed tonight

After all the times we had, you took a good thing and made it bad

After all we've been through how could you do this to me

After all your suppose to be my one and only, cause it was meant to be

After all

Now who's gonna hold you tight, when your alone in the bed tonight

After all the times we had, you took a good thing and made it bad

ad

After all we've been through how could you do this to me
After all your suppose to be my one and only, cause it was mean t to be

After all