

Calculator

Leoniden

We've been here a million times, but
You were almost never really by my side
I've had a couple of tries, but
Until now, I found nothing
Until now, I found nothing

A blueprint of a fight
You can only lose tonight
But practicing a breakup
Is breaking up twice
You can only lose tonight
You can only lose tonight

The second I take a breath
Imaginary friends keep fighting in my head like it's a wrestling match (Oh, oh)
Combine it with the power of a scoreboard and multiple universes
The pure brutality of brute forcing (Oh, oh, oh)

The minute we're arguing, you lock up the fire door
Didn't I see this before?
Stop being rhetorical, tell me
Which is the last chance of all the last chances?
Which is the last chance of all the last chances?

A blueprint of a fight
You can only lose tonight
But practicing a breakup
Is breaking up twice
You can only lose tonight
You can only lose tonight

Dance
Dance
Dance

I can't remember the last day where I wrote a date on a paper
Where I've used a calculator
Where I saved anything for later
And I didn't shed a single tear to all the things I've lost 'cause
Most of this stuff, we never really owned anyway

A blueprint of a fight
You can only lose tonight
But practicing a breakup
Is breaking up twice
You can only lose tonight
You can only lose tonight

Dance
Dance
Dance
Dance