

Necklace

Leoniden

And it was today that you noticed
That something was off from the start
And it was never easy for us to play our part
And it was today that you noticed
That something was off from the start
And it was never easy for us to play our part

Hubble, Voyager large Hadron Collider
Humbled and inspired by failure
I took an awkward bow, posture, postponed
Taste of dependences is bitterness

The first day of the rest of my life, I have questions, so many questions
No way home endure the pain, if your answer was a necklace, I'd wear it all day

And it was today that you noticed
That something was off from the start
And it was never easy for us to play our part
And it was today that you noticed
That something was off from the start
And it was never easy for us to play our part

One trick pony, today your dream was shattered
People fake being okay and fake depressions
Throw your pills away and you're cured
I threw my pills away and got bored

The first day of the rest of my life, I have questions, so many questions
A few notes shuffle the set, if your answer was a necklace, I'd wear it till
I'm dead

And it was today that you noticed
That something was off from the start
And it was never easy for us to play our part
Cause it was today that you noticed
That something was off from the start
And it was never easy for us to play our part

See this triangle
It's Prada
See this square
Expensive
See this circle
It's limited
See this UAP
It's me

Cause it was today that you noticed
That something was off from the start
And it was never easy for me to play my part

Cause it was today that you noticed
That something was off from the start
And it was never easy for us to play our part
Cause it was today that you noticed
That something was off from the start

And it was never easy for us to play our part
