

Nuclear

Leroy Sanchez

It's been two weeks and let me tell you what
The combination of you and I's looking dangerous
Is never static, quite problematic
But ain't it fun when a bit of drama comes between us

Light me up, light me up, baby burn me down
Set this room on fire, watch the walls come down
Feel the tension rise, 'bout to break the ground
I don't know how but...

Maybe we should stop
Before this love goes nuclear
Before we both cross the line
And your body crash into mine
Maybe we should stop
But this feels too good, yeah
We're inevitable tonight
So slow down every inch of time
Before our love goes nuclear

Who knows if it's meant to be, but all I know is
I just want you all over me, and let's be honest
We may not come out of this
But for the night I know it's worth the risk

Light me up, light me up, baby burn me down
Set this room on fire, watch the walls come down
Feel the tension rise, 'bout to break the ground
I don't know how but...

Maybe we should stop
Before this love goes nuclear
Before we both cross the line
And your body crash into mine
Maybe we should stop
But this feels too good, yeah
We're inevitable tonight
So slow down every inch of time
Before our love goes nuclear
Before our love goes nuclear

Too late now
Oh to shut it down
Oh too late now
Oh to shut it down
Oh too late now
Oh to shut it down
Oh too late now
Oh to shut it down

Maybe we should stop
Before this love goes nuclear
Before we both cross the line
And your body crash into mine
Maybe we should stop
But this feels too good yeah
We're inevitable tonight

So slow down every inch of time
Before our love goes nuclear
