

Not My Problem

Less Than Jake

Hello? Hello? Hello? Hello?
Is there anybody there?
Hello? Hello? Do you really even care?
Ya know, I wonder where it went wrong?
I wonder when things went south
What could have been done?

All there was for you to do
Stick to a plan and follow through

You had it all, you were standing on top of the world
You took the fall now you're face down kissing the dirt
You had it all but your lies became your truth
You lost it all, you threw it all away

No way, no way, no way, no way
No, it couldn't be your problem?
Must be, must be, someone else's problem?
No accountability
Could it just be a projection of your own reality?

All there was for you to do
Stick to a plan and follow through

You had it all, you were standing on top of the world
You took the fall now you're face down kissing the dirt
You had it all but your lies became your truth
You lost it all, you threw it all away
You had it all, you were standing on top of the world
You took the fall now you're face down kissing the dirt
You threw it all away, you threw it all away

There are moments, there are sounds
When I wish you were still around
But when I play the whole tape through
The scenes have changed and so have you
Cause over time it's your self serving
Left a trail of bridges burning
All there was for you to do
Stick to a plan and follow through

You had it all, you were standing on top of the world
You took the fall now you're face down kissing the dirt
You had it all but your lies became your truth
You lost it all, you threw it all away
You had it all, you were standing on top of the world
You took the fall now you're face down kissing the dirt
You threw it all away, you threw it all away
